

The Tuscarora Review

2017 Submission Guidelines

- Current or former FCC students, staff, faculty, trustees, or foundation members may submit; however, only students are eligible for awards (excluding current Tuscarora Review board members).
- Authors and artists may submit up to five (5) entries; written submissions will not be returned.
- Written submissions must be original, not previously published, and less than 2,000 words. Text should be typed and double spaced. Possible categories include, but are not limited to, poetry, fiction, essay, fable, graphic fiction, interview, and one act play. Editors will change text to conform to conventions of standard English.
- Art submissions should be titled; these may include, but are not limited to, 2D Art, 3D Art, cartoons, photography, and CD cover designs. Note: Art and photography in the fall and spring student art show will be photographed and automatically considered for publication and awards.
- All entries published and selected for awards are chosen for creative, artistic, and compositional merit. Knowledge of author or artist names is withheld from the editorial board until publication and award decisions are made.
- Submissions are accepted year-round; the deadline is Thursday, December 8, 2016. Mail submissions to the English Department, Frederick Community College, 7932 Opossumtown Pike, Frederick, MD 21702. Or you may submit entries in person to H243 in the Student Center Building. Decision notification by mid-April. Please do not staple submission forms to entries.
- Potential Tuscarora Review board members must enroll in the spring EN222-Creative Writing Workshop.
