

The Tuscarora Review

2022 Submission Guidelines

- Current or former FCC students, staff, faculty, trustees, or foundation members may submit; however, only students are eligible for awards (excluding current Tuscarora Review board members).
- Authors and artists may submit up to five (5) entries; written submissions will not be returned. Each entry should have a title. Please complete a separate submission form for each entry.
- Written submissions must be original, not previously published, and less than 2,000 words. Text should be typed and double spaced. Possible categories include, but are not limited to, poetry, fiction, essay, fable, graphic fiction, interview, creative non-fiction, and one act play. Editors will change text to conform to conventions of standard English.
- Art submissions should be titled; these may include, but are not limited to, 2D Art, 3D Art, cartoons, photography, and CD cover designs. Note: Art and photography in the fall and spring student art show will be photographed and automatically considered for publication and awards.
- All entries published and selected for awards are chosen for creative, artistic, and compositional merit. Knowledge of author or artist names is withheld from the editorial board until publication and award decisions are made.
- Submissions are accepted year-round; the deadline is Friday, January 15, 2021. Mail submissions to the English Department, Frederick Community College, 7932 Opossumtown Pike, Frederick, MD 21702. Entries may also be submitted in person to H243 in the Student Center Building. Please do not staple submission forms to entries. You may also submit entries electronically, with submission form, to Tuscarora_Review@frederick.edu. If submitting electronically, fill in this document, save to your desktop or storage device, and include it as an attachment.
- Decision notification by mid-April.
- Potential Tuscarora Review board members must enroll in the spring EN222-Creative Writing Workshop.
